Preserving the Iolomeo aesthetically pleasing. It polished aluminium, a fully rotational diffuser in joints and supports, is designed by Venele Design, it's affordable, turning commander of fun for your office. OK, it's still just a lamp, but can I ask you, please? Is it really hard enough to ask?

For the small business owner without a server, this Eikin Home Base might make life a whole lot easier. The network USB hub works with your iMac to create a small server, allowing every one in the office wireless access to any of the devices plugged into the hub: whether it be the printer, external hard drive, or any other peripheral. In the style stakes it also gets a big thumbs up. Sure, Apple white might not be the most original of colours but the sleek lines and the tiny footprint are quite cool.
